

A Message From Our State Director

Rural Development is dedicated to serving the needs of Wisconsin's rural citizens, including funding for home purchase with our Guaranteed Rural Housing loan program.

Interested home buyers should call or visit their local lender or the nearest USDA Rural Development field office for information about the program. USDA Rural Development will refer potential applicants to participating lenders. Lenders interested in becoming approved to participate in the program may also contact USDA Rural Development for further information.

Please telephone our State Office for more information at 715-345-7620 or toll free at 866-474-3600 (TDD: 715-345-7614), or visit our website at: www.rurdev.usda.gov/wi.

We look forward to offering you the opportunity and assistance you need to own the home of your dreams~affordably.

Frank Frassetto, State Director, WI

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) prohibits discrimination in all its programs and activities on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, political beliefs, sexual orientation or marital or familial status. (Not all prohibited bases apply to all programs.) Persons with disabilities who require alternative means for communication of program information (Braille, large print, audiotape, etc.) should contact USDA's TARGET center at 202-720-2600 (voice and TDD).

To file a complaint of discrimination, write:
USDA, Director, Office of Civil Rights
Room 326-W, Whitten Building
14th & Independence Avenue, SW
Washington, DC 20250-9410
or call 202-720-5964 (voice and TDD).
USDA is an equal opportunity provider and employer.

United States Department of Agriculture
Rural Development

Wisconsin Rural Development

Guaranteed Rural Housing Loan Program

This program is administered by USDA Rural Development, an agency within the Rural Development mission area of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

Sometimes good credit and a steady income are not enough to qualify for a home loan at a commercial lending institution, such as a bank, savings and loan or mortgage company.

More rural families and individuals may be eligible to become homeowners with the help of a USDA guaranteed home loan. When the federal government agrees to guarantee a loan, lending institutions can help buyers while incurring less risk. Through USDA's Guaranteed Rural Housing Loan Program, low- and moderate-income people can qualify for mortgages even without a down payment.

Guaranteed Rural Housing Loans

To be eligible, applicants must:

- Have an adequate and dependable income;
- Be a U.S. citizen or be legally admitted to the United States for permanent residence;
- Have an adjusted annual household income that does not exceed the moderate income limit established for the area. A family's income includes the total gross income of the applicant, co-applicant and any other adults in the household. Applicants may be eligible to make certain adjustments to gross income—such as annual child care expense and $480 for each minor child—in order to qualify. USDA Rural Development field offices can provide information on the moderate income limits for the areas that fall within their jurisdiction, and can provide further guidance on calculating household income;

- Have a credit history that indicates a reasonable willingness to meet obligations as they become due;
- Have repayment ability based on the following ratios; Principle, Interest, Taxes, and Insurance (PITI) divided by gross monthly income must be equal to or less than 29 percent. Total debt divided by gross monthly income must be equal to, or less than, 41 percent.

Homes that Qualify:

- Guaranteed loans can be made on either new or existing homes;
- Existing homes must be structurally sound, functionally adequate, and in good repair;
- There are no restrictions on the size or design of the home financed;
- The home must not be used for income-producing purposes;
- Homes must be located in rural areas. Rural areas include open country and places with a population of 10,000 or less and—under certain conditions—towns and cities with between 10,000 and 25,000 residents. USDA Rural Development field offices can verify eligible areas.

Highlights of the USDA Guaranteed Rural Housing Loan Program

- Loans may be for up to 100 percent of appraised value or for the acquisition cost, whichever is less. No down payment is required;
- Mortgages are 30-year fixed rate at market interest rates;
- Loans may include funds for closing costs, guarantee fee, legal fees, title services, cost of establishing an escrow account and other prepaid items, if the appraised value is higher than sales price;
- Sellers may contribute to the buyer's closing costs;
- Home buyers make application with participating lenders;
- Buyers must personally occupy the dwelling following the purchase;
- Loans may be made to refinance either existing Guaranteed Rural Housing loans or Section 502 Direct Housing loans;
- A one-time guarantee fee is charged to the lender by Rural Development, but may be passed on to the buyer;
- Closed loans have secondary market acceptability, including Freddie Mac, Fannie Mae, and Ginnie Mae;
- Guaranteed loans are subject to the provisions of the Civil Rights statutes, including the Equal Credit Opportunity Act.